INDIA-BRUNEI BILATERAL BRIEF

Political

The Contacts between India and Brunei have historical and cultural roots as extension of India's relations with peninsular Malaysia and the Indonesian Island.

The diplomatic relations between India and Brunei were established in May 1984. The interest in upgrading bilateral relations started in friendly meetings between late Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi and the Sultan of Brunei at CHOGM meetings, etc. In response to Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi's invitation, the Sultan of Brunei paid a State visit to India in September 1992 and Indian resident diplomatic mission was opened in Brunei on 18 May 1993. Brunei set up its High Commission in India in 12 August 1992. By virtue of their common membership of UN, NAM, Commonwealth and ARF etc and as developing countries with strong traditional and cultural ties, Brunei and India enjoy a fair degree of commonality in their perceptions on major international issues. Brunei has been supportive of India's 'Look East Policy and has welcomed 'Act East' policy and expansion and deepening of cooperation with ASEAN. Brunei took over as India-ASEAN Coordinator from July 2012 for three years.

The visit of the Sultan of Brunei to India in May 2008 was a landmark in India-Brunei relations. Five MoUs/Agreements were signed during the visit on BIPA, ICT, Culture, Trade and Space.

Visit of Hon'ble Vice President of India to Brunei from 1-3 February 2016: Hon'ble Vice President Shri M. Hamid Ansari visited Brunei from 1-3 February 2016. ### Cultural:

Negara Brunei Darussalam, i.e., "State of Brunei - Abode of Peace", or "Brunei Darussalam", or just "Brunei", is one of the oldest continuing monarchies in the world and one of the few executive ones. Its earliest known history dates back to 6th century, when Brunei was called "Puni" (possibly a distortion of the Sanskrit "Baruni"), or "Pol". Brunei, then a Hindu-Buddhist kingdom, had linkages with the famed Sri Vijaya and Majapahit empires of the region, as well as with China. In the late 14th century, Brunei converted into an Islamic Sultanate when its ruler, Awang Alak Betatar, married a Muslim Johore princess from Malacca, and embraced Islam to become Brunei's first Sultan – Mohammed Shah. Malay customs, rituals, and culture have many linkages with Indian culture. Bollywood film stars, movies, and film music are also very popular.

The High Commission organized an “Essay Contest” commemorating the 125th Birth anniversary of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar. The Mission also celebrated the Second International Day of Yoga on 19 June 2016 at the India House which was attended by about 150 people. Live webcast of Prime Minister Speech on the launching of Pravasi Bhartiya Kendra was organized on 2 October 2016. The ITEC Day 2016 was celebrated at India House on 27 October 2016. The High Commission celebrated 141st birth anniversary of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel at the Chancery premises on 11 November 2016.

An exhibition of two collections- Monuments of India and Islamic Monuments from 1-14 December 2016 was inaugurated by the Brunei Minister of Culture, Youth and Sports on 1 December 2016 at the Malay Technology Museum.

Indian Community:

The discovery of oil in Brunei in 1929 brought a number of Indians to Brunei to work in the hydrocarbon sector and allied services. Shri Mohinder Singh, now a Bruneian citizen, was awarded the Pravasi Bharatiya Samman Award (PBSA) 2010 in acknowledgement of his outstanding achievements in the field of community service. Indian Association in Bandar Seri Begawan and Indian Association in Kuala Belait have been very active and are regularly organising Indian cultural events. Majority of the doctors in Brunei are from India. Other professionals include engineers, IT professionals, bankers, teachers etc. Indians have a considerable presence in textile business. There are approximately 11,500 Indian nationals living and working in Brunei.
